

News Release

(HOLDREGE, Neb.) -- The Central District Water Users annual meeting will be held Fri., March 22 at the Super 8 Motel Conference Room in Holdrege. The meeting will begin at 12 noon with a steak lunch provided by the Central District Water Users.

The featured speakers this year are State Senator Tom Carlson and J. Michael Jess. Carlson, a Holdrege native, will be addressing current legislative issues. Jess, former director of the Department of Natural Resources, who now serves as a consulting engineer specializing in water issues, will discuss current water issues in Nebraska.

Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District officials Don Kraus, Mike Drain and Cory Steinke will also be presenting. Natural Resources Manager Drain will be addressing the NRD proposal to convert the Central District project to groundwater irrigation. Steinke will discuss 2013 water supply projections, and Kraus will report on Central's recent activities. A short business meeting, including election of CDWU board members will follow.

All Central irrigation customers are invited to attend.
